

HISTORIC PRESERVATION COMMISSION

To help protect, improve and preserve historically significant sites and area within the Colville city limits for the benefit of all citizens. By preserving these, our historic legacy may be kept for the present and the future.

The Commission serves as the local review board approving applications for special tax valuation on historic property determined to be eligible and consistent with state laws.

The Commission is also charged with defining Colville's Historic District, serving as a design review board, and providing public information and assistance for preservation of historic resources.

The Commission meets on the third Friday of each month at 10:00 a.m.
